

Nymånens Erko

Erko works as a teamdog.

Summer 2008 we bought Nymånens Erko. The reason for buying him was because of his very interesting pedigree.

Alaskan's Ping Ping of Anadyr is the father of Erko and this Ping Ping, who is called Ash, was several times in the Iditarod, which is the longest sleddog-race in the world. A Siberian Husky who can take part in this race must be really good Siberian Husky. So we hope that these working genes are passed on to his off-spring.

And while working on this website and trying to get more information about Erko's Swedish background, the pedigree is even getting more interesting then we expected it would be.

The eyes of Nymånens Erko have been examined on eye-diseases. The results are okay, he has no sign of eye diseases.

Siberian Husky Nymånens Erko is 50% Alaskan Anadyr, a lot of Vargevass and also a lot of Polar Speed.

Mother: Guldmyrens Joma

Up to now, we do not know much about the Swedish breeding lines. However, while checking up the background of Guldmyrens Joma, we found out that the roots go back to important names in breeding lines. Such as Peik, Alaskan's Tannik of Anadyr, Arctic Trails Fang, Tallita of Kolyma, Ash of Markovo, several Vargevass-dogs and even several Finnish Polar Speed dogs. We also found Igloo Pak's Candy To and Arctic Trail's Who of Kelsons in the pedigree and those dogs have been very important in the Polar Speed breeding.

Father: Alaskan's Ping Ping of Anadyr – called Ash

This dog was several times in the Iditarod and that means that he is a real good sleddog.

Summer 2001 Ash came to Europe to the Norwegian kennel of Karsten Gronas.

However, before he went to Langfjordbotten in the top of Norway, Ash was a few weeks in the German kennel of Bernard Schuchert.

In August 2001 Ash came to our Tiniteqilaq-kennel in the Netherlands.

We were going to drive to Langfjordbotten, to the kennel of Karsten Grönås for breeding one of our females. So we took Ash with us on the long trip from the Netherlands to Northern Norway. Ash was a really nice and gentle dog, however a little bit shy.

So finally, after 7 years we have a son of Ash. We really think that this son of Ash will mean something to our kennel. Winter 2008/2009 he worked in one of our sleddog-teams.

Also in 2008 we used him for breeding.

In November 2008 his first litter was born out of Polar Speed Säde. Two females went to the Netherlands and we kept the male-puppy called Umatilla. In winter 2009/2010 Umatilla starts learning to be a sleddog.

And we will also visit some dog-shows with Nymånens Erko.
